Business Merger Announcement

To our honored clients, partners, and vendors,

Minds Mechanical is very pleased to announce the official merger between Minds Mechanical and our long-standing partner, CMMS Inc, a highly respected metrology integration partner and industrial automation solutions provider, also headquartered in the greater Seattle area.

Our two companies have a storied history of partnership throughout the years, each leveraging the complimentary skillsets, personnel, equipment, and offerings of the other. Over the course of this partnership, it became increasingly apparent that our synergistic capabilities would be most efficiently employed as a single entity. It was the natural course then to officially unite under one banner moving forward and streamline our services for our clients by bringing our resources, technology, experience, and infrastructure together into one newly formed organization.

The result of this merger will be a truly comprehensive, one stop shop for all of our valued clients' metrology needs with a full suite of metrology equipment, a team of inspectors and auditors led by three senior level metrologists with 20 years of field experience each, robotics and industrial automation services, comprehensive metrology consulting, proprietary metrology software, and metrology equipment sales and rentals.

By joining the resources, technology, and proprietary software of our two organizations together, clients can expect even greater project efficiency with access to new technologies and product offerings. This merger will solidify our joint metrology services and our expanded team and multiplied resources enables greater responsiveness, flexibility, and value for our existing clients while positioning us to better serve new clients and expand into emerging markets. In addition, our clients will enjoy the benefit of working with a single source provider with expanded, streamlined capabilities and a diversified portfolio for industrial metrology services.

Our relationship with existing clients is our first priority during this transition and the union of our organizations will yield a multitude of benefits. Our clients can expect no disruption to current services as we are dedicated to providing the same level of excellence and customer care our clients have come to know and are fully committed to a seamless transition.

The merger officially went into effect January 1st, 2023, and moving forward we will be joined under the Minds Mechanical name, brand, and logo. Everyone at the newly re-formed Minds Mechanical is very excited about what this year will bring and want to express our sincere gratitude for your continued business as well as your patience during this transition period. We are looking forward to continuing to provide our clients, vendors, and partners with the highest quality of industrial metrology services available in 2023.

Sincerely,

Daniel Nydam
COO
